WWW.THERAPYABROAD.ORG

"Therapy Abroad was one of the greatest experiences that I've ever had. I learned so much from both the staff and students. From community-based rehab and speech screening to cava tubing, everything was above and beyond. The skills that I learned will be extremely useful in the future as a speech-language pathologist."

- Lisa N., University of British Columbia, Vancouver, BC

A Program Just For You!

Are you studying Communication Sciences & Disorders, Speech Sciences, Speech-Language Pathology, Special Education or a related Field?

Therapy Abroad offers group travel and study abroad experiences designed exclusively for students studying communication sciences and disorders, speech sciences, speech-language pathology, special education and other related fields. Simply put, our programs are for anyone aspiring to be a speech-language pathologist. Students at any skill level, whether a first year undergrad, a recent grad or a graduate student, you will be able to actively participate and gain valuable hands-on learning experiences on one of our programs. Whether you have traveled extensively or if this is your first time going abroad, we will make sure that every step of the way is organized, safe and professional.

All of our programs are designed for students who want to take advantage of working alongside professional ASHA accredited speech-language pathologists (SLPs) in order to observe, practice and learn more about communication sciences and disorders, prepare for graduate school or gain deeper insight into their current grad school curriculum, travel and learn more about a new culture.

"I came out of this trip learning and experiencing things I never thought I would've ever done. I gained hands on experience in the field surrounded by professionals who inspired me through their passion for change. I'll forever be grateful for this opportunity."

-Kiana A., San Jose State University, La Habra, CA

We are currently offering 2 Week Undergraduate Programs based in Belize and the Dominican Republic and 1 Week graduate programs. We also offer specialty AAC programs and more.

Therapy Abroad students and staff provide essential services such as speech & language screenings, evaluations and intervention. Students and staff will also take part in a communications learning camp for children with special needs designed around skill based stations (learning centers) speaking/ listening/ learning/ sensory/fine & gross motor skills. Each day students will have group discussion as well as one on one time with SLPs and other professionals. Students will also take part in home-based field visits as part of a small interdisciplinary team consisting of SLPs, social workers and medical doctors. Your team will work with children and parents focusing on speech & language, feeding, swallowing disorders, behavior modification and special education. You will learn, observe, share ideas, and work on developing critical observation skills in clinical, school and a home environments.

Time will also be set aside to learn new concepts, practice skills and learn about local culture and history. Students will gain hands-on and observational experience working in a variety of settings, leadership experience as well as insight and discussion on applying to graduate schools and/or post graduate career opportunities as an SLP.

"Therapy Abroad provided the hands-on experience I expected and more. It allowed all of us to see and experience more about our major but we also got to learn about the education system along with behavior modification methods we can use in the future. Years from now, I will look back at my experience and Therapy Abroad will instantly come to mind as one of the best things I have done."

From the professionals:

"This trip provides so much to students-hands-on experience with individuals with a variety of abilities, instruction and direction from multiple speech-language pathologists and other professionals, cross-cultural experience and training, and a whole lot of fun. The staff at Therapy Abroad handled every detail and provided an amazing opportunity for undergraduate students to learn while doing. I absolutely would recommend this to any university wanting to take students on an international service-learning trip."
