○ 9:00 – 12:30

Friday, May 23rd

○ 9:00 – 12:00

All presentations will be open to watch live via Zoom and recorded for later viewing

The students and faculty of the Communication Disorders and Sciences program would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks for your commitment in helping train future clinicians. We could not prepare our students without your community support.

You are invited to hear our master's students present their Evidence Based Practice Projects, the capstone project, which will be their last milestone before embarking on their SLP careers. We are happy to offer these via Zoom so that community members can watch the presentations live.

Each graduating student will present a review of the literature for a particular intervention in conjunction with their own findings from a case application using the target intervention. The projects thus provide a synthesis and integration of current research findings and clinical outcomes based on treating clients in real practice settings.

Oregon Continuing Education Units (CEUs) will be available to participants who complete a short survey following the presentations. Each presentation will count as .5 CEU. We will send the survey link at the time we send links to the presentations.

You will find the schedule of presentations linked HERE. The final schedule, which will include links for Zoom presentations, handouts, recordings, and the survey required for CEUs, will be updated no later than 5pm on Wednesday, May 21st.

Please contact the CDS Program Coordinator at cds@uoregon.edu with any questions.
