Corrective Reading Decoding

Levels B1 & B2

Tuesday, August 25

7:30 am-2:30 pm PST

Students who place into Decoding B1 or B2 have inconsistent reading skills and often guess at words rather than apply decoding strategies that will lead to the accurate reading of words.

Corrective Reading Decoding B1 refines word-attack skills by teaching sounds and sound combinations, introducing new vocabulary, and promoting word discrimination. There is a strong emphasis on fluency-building and comprehension with daily reading of decodable connected text.

Corrective Reading Decoding B2 continues the instructional sequence of Level B1 with student practice in word-attack and spelling, vocabulary development, and daily practice of decodable connected text. Practice for rate and accuracy, and charting of daily fluency progress are features that help students recognize their progress and increase their motivation.
