

Present

PIONEERING HUMAN DIFFERENCES AND INDIVIDUAL LIVES
Twenty Second Annual Leona E. Tyler Lecture

Dorothy Espelage, PhD

Professor of Psychology, University of Florida
APA Lifetime Achievement Award in Prevention Science 2016 APA Award for Distinguished Contributions to Research in Public Policy

Research-informed school-based bullying prevention approaches: Narrowing the research-practice gap

Professor Espelage will review two decades of research on school bullying, sexual violence, teen dating violence, and gender-based harassment. Definitions, prevalence rates, and outcomes will be discussed with a particular focus on translating these research findings into prevention and intervention efforts in schools and communities. Evidence-based prevention programs will be highlighted; implementation and sustainability issues of school-based programs will also be discussed.

Friday November 10, 2017 • 2:30 – 4:00 P.M.

Ford Lecture Hall, Jordan Schnitzer Museum of Art

Reception to Follow