A conversation about undocumented America

Thursday

October 26, 2017 from 4:00pm to 5:30pm

Crater Lake South

EMU 145

University of Oregon

Presented by the Center for Latino/a and Latin American Studies (CLLAS) and the School of Journalism and Communications (SOJC)

Moderated by Chris Chávez (SOJC)

Jose Antonio Vargas is the 2017-2018 Morse Chair and a Pulitzer Prize winning journalist. In 2011, he published a story in the New York Times Magazine titled "My Life as an Undocumented Immigrant." Since then, he has devoted himself to changing the cultural and policy conversations about immigration through filmmaking and activism. His organization, Define American, is a non-profit media and culture organization that uses the power of story to transcend politics and shift the conversation about immigrants, identity, and citizenship in a changing America.

This event is part of the CLLAS Latinx Heritage Month events and cosponsored by the Morse Center for Law and Politics and the School of Journalism and Communication.

An equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Accommodations for people with disabilities will be provided if requested in advance by calling (541) 346-5286.
